Spring Festival 1995, mum had a telephone installed at hame.
Telephones were not rare in Tanzhou by then, but it was still exciting enough for Hua and me.
Mum had been calling us once a week since returning to Shenzhen.
Pressing the hands free button, we three chatted like before. Hua would put on a rare smile meanwhile.
Hua and I made a rule, this phone can not be used to call others, nor should others know our number. It is exclusively for recieving mum's call.
